Continuation of Item 5 of Advisory Action

Applicant continues to argue that Majeti does not teach that the multiplexing of various channels into television bandwidth signals are not the first and second broadcast streams being independent of each other because they are transmitted over a single television cable 36 and therefore only carries one broadcast stream. The examiner again notes that a multiplexed channel carried over a single television cable 36 contains multiple broadcast streams and that if the applicant wishes to stress that the first and second broadcast stream is transmitted over separate communication means (two separate cables) that he should amend the claims accordingly.

In regards to the broadcast streams being independent of one another, see Column 4, Lines 20-24 where Majeti discloses that the head-end receives signals and multiplexes them into television bandwidth signals (separate channels) into one complete 6 Mhz channel, where one user is served by a 6 Mhz channel. Majeti further discloses at Column 4, Lines 32-36 for splitting the 6 Mhz channel and extracting the television and other data (first and second broadcast stream), therefore, these broadcast streams are independent in that they are contained in there own channel, multiplexed within the 6 Mhz channel.

Applicant also argues that Cragun does not teach capturing portions of the broadcast for future viewing but the entire broadcast. The examiner does not understand the argument "but the entire broadcast". The examiner notes again that Cragun discloses capturing incoming broadcast streams at Column 10, Lines 47-55, Column 11, Lines 37-62 and Column 12, Lines 20-28 for capturing portions (multiple segments) of the broadcast (from the multiple stream from the analog/multi-source CATV and VCR in Figure 1).
